NARRATIVE

At an unknown time and exact location a bag was removed from the rear portion of the vehicle I was operating. I last saw the bag the night earlier from what I recall or possibly during that morning. Not until this morning did I identify the bag was missing from the vehicle. The bag contained misc. items; however, it specifically included a billfold and electronic device that contained personal information and files. The vehicle I was operating has a faulty rear access point which does not secure and may have been the point of access to the vehicle. I have since reported to my bank to block my cards.
